POST OFFICE IS UP AGAINST IT

Enormous Increase of Business in June and July with Plenty of Clerks but no Room to Take Care of the Work.

Just how the Gettysburg post office is to handle the enormous business which it is sure to have during the battle anniversary celebration, and for some days before and after, is now a problem which confronts Postmaster Beales and his force of clerks and carriers. The present office is said to have just about one-fourth of the space actually necessary to handle properly the business anticipated and, in view of the financial troubles of the contractor for the new federal building, all hope of using that structure long since vanished.

The plans for taking care of the heavy mails include the employment of four expert Railway Post Office dispatching clerks and three sub-clerks but just where they are going to place the equipment for sorting the mail is not known. Every inch of available floor space at the present office is now in use, and for just the ordinary business there is not an inch more room than is absolutely necessary.

In addition to the regular city mail carriers a mounted collector will make the rounds of the town boxes three or four times a day. Incoming mail is expected to be enormous, and to burden the regular carriers with the thousands of letters and post cards which will doubtless be deposited in boxes on the streets would be unwise.

A post office will be established at the veterans camp where there will be four clerks and a mounted collector. Boxes will be distributed about camp to receive outgoing mail but there will be no delivery in the camp and the veterans will have to call at the camp post office for their mail.

The supply of stamps received at the Gettysburg office on Wednesday is a good indication of the amount of business expected. One million one-cent stamps were received, 400,000 two-cent stamps and 4320 books of one-cent stamps. Other stamps brought up the total purchase to $21,782.60. These are in addition to 100,000 one-cent and an equal amount of two-cent stamps now on hand.

ABOUT LATE TRAINS

Western Maryland Issues Special Instructions to Employees.

That patrons of the Western Maryland Railroad may be furnished with quick and accurate information concerning the delay of trains on the road, special instructions to passenger trainmen, agents and operators have been issued by A. R. Merrick, general superintendent. The general order addressed to the above mentioned employees, reads as follows:

It is the desire of the management of the Western Maryland Railway Company that the traveling public be given correct information regarding delayed trains. When regular train service is interrupted, each employee named above should ascertain promptly the cause and probable extent of the interruption and courteously give this information to their patrons and passengers, refraining however, from any expression as to responsibility.

The company has nothing to conceal in such matters, and it is the right of passengers on trains and waiting at stations to know what has caused the deviation from the schedules, and what service has been provided.

ODD FELLOWS' ADJOURNMENT

Grand Lodge Finishes its Business. Rebekahs Still in Session. Odd Fellows Vote against Liquor Interests.

After installing their officers and holding memorial services the Grand Lodge came to a close at half past eleven this morning and many of the delegates left for their homes. The following assumed their offices with the regular Odd Fellows' ceremony:

Grand Master, Fred. C. Hanyen, of Scranton; Deputy Grand Master, Paul A. Benson, of Erie; Grand Warden, J. P. Hale Jenkins, of Norris-town; Grand Secretary, Usher A. Hall, of Philadelphia; Grand Treasurer, M. Richards Muckle, of Philadelphia; Grand Chaplain, Rev. D. S. Mackellar, of Hawley; Grand Marshall, Philip J. Vetter, of Scranton; Grand Conductor, Wm. C. Cowles, of Scranton; Grand Guardian, O. B. Blanchard, of Nelson; Grand Herald, Harry Smith, of Philadelphia.

Harry S. Wright, of Philadelphia, was appointed Assistant Grand Secretary, the Grand Lodge approving the appointment.

A keen debate occurred in the meeting Wednesday afternoon when the question of allowing a saloon to occupy a portion of an Odd Fellows' building was brought up for action. The specific case in question was the hall at Lykens, a three story structure owned by the Lykens lodge which occupies the third floor and leases the first floor to a place of business selling liquor. The condition has existed for forty years and Grand Master Hermann W. Roller, of Philadelphia, ruled allowing it to continue.

The matter was placed in the hands of the judiciary committee which was divided on the question and after a keen debate, the Grand Lodge voted overwhelmingly to over-ride the action of Grand Master Roller and to forbid the further renting of a portion of the building for the business indicated. The action will govern all Pennsylvania lodges for at least one year.

A recommendation of the finance committee reducing the annual per capita tax from 30 to 24 cents was unanimously adopted and an effort to increase the minimum initiation fee from $5 to $10 was defeated, and no action on this will be taken until 1920 the time for the next revision of the by-laws.

The contest for next year's convention proved a lively one. The first vote resulted Harrisburg 391, Erie 260, Reading 87, Delaware Water Gap 42, and Altoona 33. A motion to select Harrisburg was then carried unanimously.

All of Wednesday and to-day were taken up by the Daughters of Rebekah in the discussion of proposed changes to the constitution and by-laws. At this morning's session a gavel was presented to the Assembly by Mary Gettys Lodge, of this place. It was one of the gavels made by John Sherfy from trees actually standing in the Peach Orchard at the time of the battle and will be treasured by the Rebekah Assembly which will use it at future sessions.

One of the best features of the week was the work of the degree team from Baltimore Lodge Number Six, Daughters of Rebekah in Xaxier Hall Wednesday evening. A large crowd witnessed the maneuvers and ritual work of the team which was done with remarkable precision. The singing of a lodge song to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland" was very popular. Speeches were made by Grand Master Roller, of Pennsylvania, and the President of the Daughters of Rebekah in the State of Washington and British Columbia.

The Rebekahs are still in session.

Convention Notes. A number of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs captured the Gettysburg College quartet as they were passing the Eagle Hotel on Wednesday evening and persuaded them to officiate at an impromptu banquet. Toasts and music made a happy evening for all concerned.

Some one of the wits attending the convention dubbed the Cyclorama Building the "Silo," a name which met with instant favor and was adopted at once as the official title for the convention hall.

George A. Moore, one of the live-wires of Venango County, is representing his lodge at this session.

Lowrey Fisher is one of the most active members of the delegation from Schuylkill County and is called by his friends "the life of the bunch." Representative J. Otto Schreiber, Crafton Lodge 1178, near Pittsburgh, one of the baby lodges of Pennsylvania, makes the boast that, no matter how well the star team of Columbus Lodge, of Chambersburg, may exemplify the subordinate degree work, his team can go them one better.

UNEARTH OLD MURDER STORY

Mont Alto Woman Murdered over a Quarter of a Century ago. Murderer Escaped and is now Said to have been Found again.

A mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Cookerly, who was found murdered in a house occupied by Joseph Keys, on South Mountain, and the immediate disappearance of Keys, is believed to be solved by the appearance of Keys in Virginia. The crime was committed twenty-seven years ago and, at the time, caused considerable excitement.

In the spring of 1886 Mrs. Elizabeth Cookerly was found murdered in the house of Joseph Keys, a resident of Brownsville. Mrs. Cookerly formerly lived in Mont Alto, where her husband died and the people of the community built her a small home. There Keys visited her and one night the house burned to the ground. Then Mrs. Cookerly, with her three children, went to Brownsville, and made her home with Keys. She had been there but a few weeks when she came to a violent death and Keys disappeared. It was generally believed that he had caused her death. A number of officials hunted him for a long time, but could not apprehend him. Men who knew Keys said they saw him more than once in the woodland in the neighborhood of Brownsville, but no one ever gave him up to justice or reported his presence to the officers in time for them to catch him.

While riding along the road one day in the vicinity where the crime had been committed, Charles W. Cremer, editor of the Waynesboro Record, had his attention called to the appearance of Keys in the underbrush, but before Mr. Cremer could turn his head, Keys disappeared.

A few days ago members of the State Constabulary, stationed at Mont Alto, reported that they had received word that Keys had been located in Virginia, his old home.

It would develop this mysterious case in a new element of the unusual if Keys should be found after he had evaded officers of the law for more than a quarter of a century.

BARN BURNED

Costly Fire Caused by Lightning Near New Chester.

The barn on the farm of William M. Arthur, about two miles west of New Chester, was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire Friday about 3 p. m. A baker, named Martin, had just driven into the wagon shed, as the lightning struck the building. Four mules and horses were in the stable, but were rescued by the help of the baker. Mr. Arthur was absent, working with a team on the state road, about three miles distant when he saw the smoke. A corn crib with a small quantity of corn in it, was saved, and the automobile shed was partly burned. The gable end was knocked out and the auto saved. All farming implements, gears and tools were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $3,500, about half covered by insurance in the Mummaburg Company.

Zeigler saw the snake lying in the grass and remarked that he would fix it. He brought a pick down on the snake with a whack and the rubber reptile only squirmed around. John gave it a few more blows and laughed very heartily when told the joke. He fixed the reptile up and caught several more of the men before they caught on to the trick.

RAW PRODUCTS ON FREE LIST

Senate May Remove Duty From Wheat, Cattle, Etc.

SOON TO SHUT OFF PLEAS

Democrats Decide to Hear No More Manufacturers After Next Tuesday and May Report Bill Following Monday.

Washington, May 22.—Raw materials probably will be placed on the free list in all instances where the house has determined on the Underwood tariff bill to remove all duties from the product manufactured from those materials.

A radical program to this effect was decided upon by the sub-committee of the senate finance committee, and will be brought before the entire committee for consideration.

The proposed change, which affects many sections of the bill, is under stood to have begun with wheat. The house placed flour on the free list, but made wheat dutiable. Western millers brought strong pressure to bear to have wheat placed on the free list to establish a balance. As soon as this change was agreed to in sub-committee further pressure was brought to bear to apply the same principle to the entire bill, with the result in one instance that ferro-manganese also will be placed on the free list. This represents a victory for the independent steel manufacturers.

Barley, rye and other agricultural products are affected, cattle also are to come in free. The amendments are of such importance that the effect on revenue must be taken into consideration, and this may determine whether the program is to be put through.

Democratic members of the finance committee decided to hear no more manufacturers after next Tuesday, and Senator Simmons issued a statement in which he said:

"The Democratic members of the finance committee desire that all persons who wish to confer with the sub-committees with reference to schedules referred to them should do so before the close of next Tuesday. After the sub-committee will begin the work of actually framing the schedules."

Mr. Simmons added that no individual member could spare further time to listen to manufacturers. After next Tuesday the committee expects to complete the bill in four days or in time to report to the full committee the following Monday. Then the Democratic caucus will be called.

Mr. Simmons believes the bill will be ready for report to the senate by June 7. The cutting off of hearings will not stop the filing of briefs.

The entire committee met for the first time and took up the fight over making public names of manufacturers and others who appear before the sub-committees and publishing briefs filed in protest against rates.

DREAM REVEALS TRAGEDY

Boy in Sleep Cries For Help, Comrade Is Drowning.
Somerville, N. J., May 22.—The troubled dream of fifteen-year-old Frank Stabile, of Raritan, revealed to his parents the drowning of his companion, Angelo Nittoli, in the Raritan canal.

Young Stabile cried out in his sleep that Nittoli was drowning. His parents awakened him and demanded an explanation. Stabile told them that in company with Nittoli and Louis Curio they had gone for a boat ride in a stolen canoe. The canoe upset, Stabile and Curio swam to the bank, but when they turned to look for Nittoli he had disappeared. A searching party was organized, but the body was not found.

Her Strong Will Forced Him to Marry.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 22.—J. W. Barney, a wealthy resident of Rich Hill township, Greene county, charges in a divorce action that his wife, who was Miss Victoria Westlake, of Wheeling, W. He says that she married him for his money and that she threatened to poison his food or cut off his head if he did not consent.

KAISER GREETES WEDDING GUESTS

King and Queen of England to Attend Princess' Nuptials.

Berlin, May 22.—True "Hohenzollern weather"—brilliant sunshine and cloudless skies—has set in for the wedding festivities of Princess Victoria Louise, daughter of the German emperor and empress, and Prince Ernest August of Cumberland, which takes place Saturday.

The official receptions started with the arrival of the bridegroom and the state entry into Berlin of King George and Queen Mary of England. There was no ceremony to greet Prince Ernest August when he reached the station. He drove at once in an automobile to the castle, where he took breakfast with his bride-to-be before returning to the station to meet the British royals.

The dirigible balloons Zeppelin and Hansa, flying the British colors, accompanied the royal train from Rathenow, about fifty miles away, and hovered over the carriage as they drove toward the castle.

They cannot land in the United States and they cannot go to Mexico City, as they had planned. This was the decision of a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island. The pair arrived in New York on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II. on Tuesday next.

The girl pleaded tearfully that they be allowed to marry and come ashore, but the immigration authorities said no. Both will be detained at Ellis Island pending the departure of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. on Tuesday next.

BANKER CHEERFUL IN FACE OF DEATH

Poisoned Macon Man Sinks Into Unconsciousness.

TRIES TO COMFORT WIFE

Sensation of Dying Not as Unpleasant as Pictured, He Tells Her Ere Stupor Comes.

Macon, Ga., May 22.—B. Sander Walker, the young Macon banker, whose remarkable fight against death from bichloride of mercury poisoning, has puzzled physicians, lapsed into unconsciousness.

His physicians believe he will probably die in this condition. He had been conscious since taking the poison by mistake a week ago.

"If this be dying, then none need fear its terrors."

Walker had made this characteristically cheerful reflection earlier as he vainly begged his nurse to tell him exactly what had been said at a conference of physicians in a corner of his bedchamber.

Walker had begged his physicians to allow him to talk with his family and friends. He said he had no fear of ill consequences. To his wife, struggling bravely to bear up, Walker constantly offered words of encouragement.

"The sensation of dying is not as unpleasant as it is generally pictured," he told her.

Tuesday night Walker's physicians believed the end was near. The patient, however, steadily assured them he was determined to live. After an 'all-night fight with death Walker rallied slightly.

Although warned from the first that death undoubtedly awaited him, Walker consistently maintained buoyant spirits. He had rallied again Wednesday and was the least perturbed of any in his room then.

While conscious and suffering little or no discomfort, he has been unable to grasp the situation which physicians said confronted him. The slow work of the deadly poison had failed to shake Walker's belief that he would recover. His high spirits, it is believed, had much to do with his resisting the effects of the drug.

While unable to fully account for Walker's remarkable vitality, some of the physicians partly attributed his successful resistance to the poison to the fact that he emitted a portion of the bichloride of mercury tablet soon after it was swallowed.

It was this which alarmed the banker and caused him to call a physician, who rushed to the Walker home and pumped out the contents of the banker's stomach. The physician's arrival, however, was not before the poison had taken sufficient effect to paralyze the kidneys.

All of the members of Walker's immediate family are gathered at his home. Every precaution is being taken to prevent the patient from becoming unduly excited. Only his wife, the attending physician and nurses are permitted to enter his room.

Telegrams containing suggestions for treatment still are being received at the Walker home from every section of the country.

FIGHT DUEL FOR WOMAN

Rivals, Armed With Knives, Kill Each Other to Prevent Wedding.

Joliet, Ill., May 22.—Sam Cona and Ruffo Grego both are dead as the result of a midnight knife duel over a woman each had loved in Italy.

The pair were rivals in Palermo, Italy. They declared when they left their native land that neither would secure the woman except over the dead body of the other.

A week ago the men, who had not met for three years, though working on the same shift at a Joliet steel mill, met. The feeling between them became stronger daily.

On Tuesday the woman, Maria Cona, came to Joliet to marry Grego. Cona declared that the wedding should not take place. A duel was decided upon as the best way to settle the difficulty.

The two men met in the rear of Cona's boarding house. Because it was too dark in that location they went out under the electric light at the corner and, armed with knives, proceeded to fight it out. Cona received a thrust in the heart and had scarcely fallen before Grego tumbled over on top of him.

Commissioners from Monmouth and Xenia, Ohio, strongly urged the selection of those cities as the 1914 meeting place of the United Presbyterian assembly. On a vote New Castle, Pa., received 135 votes; Monmouth, 59, and Xenia, 35.

PROBE OF STRIKE IS RECOMMENDED

Senate Committee Favors W. V.
Mine Inquiry.

Washington, May 22.—Federal investigation of the strike of coal miners in the Paint Creek region in West Virginia was practically assured when the senate education and labor committee agreed to report, with amendments, Senator Kern's resolution authorizing an inquiry.

The resolution, redrafted by a subcommittee with the understanding that it be laid before the senate with the indorsement of the other members, would allow a "thorough and complete" inquiry into conditions in the Paint Creek region preceding, during and after the strike.

The committee would be authorized to conduct hearings, as a whole or by subcommittee, either in Washington or West Virginia, and to subpoena any witness it desires. It would investigate alleged peonage, interference with the mails, violation of the laws for the trial of accused persons, violation of the Sherman act by the coal operators and the causes that led up to the conditions existing in Paint Creek.

Although an amendment proposed by Senator Works for investigation of ventilation, sanitation, wages, conditions of labor and kindred subjects was adopted, the scope of the resolution is so broad that the committee can ask about practically anything concerning the miners, operators or the miners.

WILSON CURBS FIERY SISSON

Promises Not to Indulge in Tirade Against Japan.

MAY DEMAND CITIZENSHIP

Dispatches From Tokio Indicate That Citizens Are Unanimous That Naturalization Must Be Granted or Law Eliminated.

Washington, May 22. — President Wilson sent for Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, and urged him not to make any speech that would offend the sensibilities of Japan.
Mr. Sisson, who recently made a "war speech," had given notice of his intention to speak in the house Friday on the legal phases of the Japanese alien land question. He had a twenty minute conference with the president during which he assured Mr. Wilson that he would not discuss the pending negotiations or touch on anything of an incendiary character, limiting himself to an argument on alien land ownership.

That was the White House version of the conference, though Mr. Sisson declined to make any comment. Mr. Sisson, who is a "little navy" man, having fought the two battles of building program in his recent speech announced regarding the doctrine of state's rights that "he would shed the last drop of blood and defend it with his sacred honor."

The president is known to be anxious about discussion in congress at this stage of the Japanese question especially involving any observation on racial discrimination.

It is indicated at the White House that the American note, just sent, and the tenor of future exchanges will be to assure Japan that the majority of Americans have a genuine respect and admiration for the achievements and character of her people.

Public expressions that might give an opposite impression are regarded at the White House as seriously embarrassing the negotiations.

The entire Japanese issue is now up to Japan, and it will be only as serious as Japan herself cares to make it. The most interesting phase of the situation is the growth of the impression that Japan intends to ask for her subjects in the United States the privilege of American citizenship.

Dispatches from Tokio, official and unofficial, indicate that the Japanese government and people are unanimous in the determination that citizenship must be demanded, unless the California law is eliminated.

Confirmation of this sentiment was found also in the words of the Japanese representatives of the leading political parties who have arrived at San Francisco to investigate conditions in California.

This question was not mentioned in the Japanese protest and neither is it discussed in the reply, but it seems certain that the question of citizenship soon will become the chief issue in the controversy. This conviction is based partly on the fact that there is no expectation that the reply of the United States will prove satisfactory to Japan, and partly on the indication from Japan that she is prepared to make such a demand.

Advices received in Washington indicate that the Japanese expect that the reply of the United States will be unsatisfactory, so far as offering a real remedy, and that they have settled on a program of procedure in which a request for citizenship is the next move.

The raising of this question would prove embarrassing to President Wilson. He could not yield to the demand because the question of naturalization is solely in the hands of congress. That the sentiment in the senate is overwhelmingly against the granting of citizenship to Japanese has been clearly indicated, and it is believed that in the house the opposition to any such proposal would be even stronger.

$58 LOVE TALK BY WIRE

Domestic Is Poor, So Booth Man Must Pay Toll.

Bethlehem, Pa., May 22. — It will cost Gottlieb Huebner, the owner of a confectionery store here, $58 for another's love message.

Mary Smak, a pretty Hungarian domestic, not knowing what the telephone charges were, called up her sweetheart at Cleveland from the booth in the candy store. For fifty eight minutes she billed and cooed over the wire, establishing a long distance love making record in eastern Pennsylvania.

After the girl stopped talking Huebner went into the booth to call for the amount of the toll. To his consternation he was told it was $58. When he told the girl she faints. As she earns only $2.50 a week Huebner will have to foot the bill and trust to the girl paying him a few pennies at a time as she gets the money.

PRODUCING BABY BEEF PROFITABLY

On $200 an acre land A. Moffit & Sons of Mechanicsville, Ia., successfully raise and mature beef cattle. They carry this on and farm for the very good reason that they find it very remunerative, says the Orange Judd Farmer.

A few years ago these gentlemen saw the handwriting on the wall--scarcity of young cattle, scarcity of beef and high prices. They prepared themselves to garner greater profits by establishing a herd of cattle and studying the best methods of producing baby beef, the most profitable and economical method of maturing beef cattle if thoroughly understood. It is a work that can be carried on in any part of the country where there is pasture, hay and corn, plus knowledge.

"Our cows are grades, but of a good class," stated the Junior Moffit, "and

The Aberdeen-Angus is one of the most popular breeds of beef cattle and is constantly growing in public favor. In recent years this breed, which had its origin in Scotland, has carried away many of the prizes at the large fat stock shows. While it does not attain so heavy weights at maturity as some of the other breeds, the Angus fattens easily and rapidly and lays the flesh on parts that bring the high prices at the butcher's block. It matures early and is a ready seller on the market at top prices.

we have only pure bred bulls. Those who would get the best results should not stint on the price when it comes to quality in beef cattle. The best is none too good, whether the cattle are to sell as breeders or to be put on the market as beef. We specialize on baby beef because it is the most profitable. We allow the calves to suck their mothers instead of limiting them to skim milk. This is the best plan where the dairy phase of the business is not carried on. After a few weeks the calves are not allowed to run with their mothers all day, and they are taught to eat grain as early as possible. The grain is fed dry after the calves have had their milk. We avoid feeding grain that is either damp or starting to decay, as calves fed such grain would soon develop indigestion, something that should by all means be avoided. It is very hard for calves to overcome a setback. They are not different from a baby in this respect. Properly cared for, calves on a milk diet will thrive mightily on a mixture of corn and oats and a small quantity of linseed oil meal. When weaned they should not be allowed to have a hungry hour."

The Moffits do not favor the skim milk diet for calves where they can be allowed to suckle their mothers. They have found that skim milk raised calves fail to broaden out properly and do not mature as early as desired with land so high in price and labor so scarce. Their experience in this respect is right in line with an experiment conducted at the Michigan experiment station, where one lot of calves was fed skim milk and the other lot allowed to suck their mothers.

The calves which were suckled by their dams had an average weight at six months of 436 pounds, at twelve months 740 pounds and at eighteen months 965 pounds. Corresponding weights for those fed skim milk were 293 pounds, 452 pounds and 666 pounds, respectively. It will be noted that the suckled calves weighed sixty-eight pounds at six months more than the skim milk calves. Just the age when they should be developing rapidly into baby beef under skillful care and wise grain feeding; also the suckled calves consumed considerably less grain and hay than the skim milk calves. As a beef cattle question baby beef can be more satisfactorily produced by the suckling plan.

Wounds on Horses.
A suitable application for a wound on a horse is a mixture of two ounces of sulphate of zinc, half an ounce of chloride of zinc, one dram of dilute hydrochloric acid and one pint of water. Label the bottle "Poison" and shake before use. Apply twice a day to surface of wound. Then dust with a mixture of equal parts of tannic acid, powdered alum and boric acid.

Handle the Colts.
Get the colts accustomed to having their legs and feet handled while they are young. Then they will not be so apt to be "touchy" about having chains and straps dangling about them when they are older. Most colts like to have their legs brushed and rubbed.

NEW TALES THAT ARE TOLD

A Case of Self Protection.

Senator Robert Owen of Oklahoma, who is one-eighth Cherokee Indian by blood, when a young lawyer was one day trying a case in which the opposing counsel, a man of more experience, sought to browbeat him.

Owen repeatedly called upon the judge to protect him, but without avail, and the older lawyer, feeling safe within the sacred precincts of the bar, grew more offensive.

"If the court will not protect me I will protect myself," finally announced young Owen.

The fatuous attorney, however, instead of taking warning, grew still more offensive. Suddenly at the end of one of his most insulting remarks a file driver collided with the point of his jaw, and somebody turned off the sunlight for twenty minutes.

Next day as young Owen was walking upon the street he passed two attorneys.

"There goes that young Owen," he heard the one with the swollen jaw say to the other. "He's like the rest of those Cherokee Indians, got plenty of sense, but can't control his temper."

Happiness.

Neither wealth nor rank will insure happiness. Without love and charity and peace of mind you may be rich and great and powerful, but you cannot be happy. --Lord Avebury.

Pelissier and the Canaries.

In "Potted Pelissier" H. G. Pelissier relates that his voice has got him into a lot of trouble.

"I remember on one occasion," he says, "being left alone in the house with a brace of canaries belonging to my sister, of which she was very fond. 'Now,' thought I, 'I can at last be certain of a really appreciative audience. I will sing to them.' So I sang to them."

"My sister never forgave me the loss of her canaries. It was the only authentic case I ever met with of 'killing two birds with one's tone.'"

Pleasant Township, Adams County, Penna., deceased:

Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of May, 1913, Levi Stock, of Mt. Pleasant Township, Adams County, presented his petition to the said Court, setting forth that he is the owner in fee of a certain tract of land and situate in Mt. That the above mentioned real estate is the same tract of land which William Stock, Sr., in and by his last Will and Testament in writing, duly probated on the 23rd day of February, 1865, and recorded in Mt. "I order and direct that the sum of $700 to be paid out of the same message of land, tenements and hereditaments unto my daughters Catharine and Agnes or their heirs, in the following manner:

$350.00 to be paid to Agnes one year after my decease, and the remaining $350.00 to be paid to Catharine one year after the decease of my wife Elizabeth." The petitioner further represents that he paid to the said Agnes Arbegast (nee Stock) and Catherine Wierman (nee Stock), the full amount of the legacies charged as aforesaid upon the said real estate, but that the said legacies failed and neglected to deliver to said petitioner a proper release of the monies so paid by your petitioner and received by them as aforesaid.
